

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Packets of mobile communication protocol which a mobile terminal sends and receives are monitored and when it is detected that a mobile terminal to which a multicast data packet is transferred moved to another network, a multicast gateway apparatus connected to the moving destination network makes a group attend request and transfers the multicast data packet to the moved mobile terminal.